How Does Intermediate Governmental Accounting Work?
This course expands on the concepts you learned in Part I and Part II. Intermediate Governmental Accounting will enhance your knowledge of financial reporting in state and local governments. Rather than focusing on how transactions are recorded in the financial records, Intermediate Governmental Accounting will focus on how transactions are reported in external financial statements required for state and local governments. Delivered via the Internet, the self-paced, self-study course allows you to progress at your own pace, augmented by consultation with an accounting professional, upon request. The courses (Part I, Part II, and Intermediate) must be taken in sequential order.

Course Requirements
To complete this course, you will read the lessons and complete the exercises and/or quizzes at the conclusion of each lesson. You must score at least 70% on each of the lesson quizzes and complete the course’s practice exercises before you will be permitted to attempt the final examination.

About the Final Examination
The final is a timed exam. You will have up to 75 minutes to complete the online exam for Intermediate. You must complete the exam in one session. Therefore, you must allow for adequate uninterrupted time. The online final examination consists of 50 objective, randomly generated questions. Each question in the final exam will be presented to you one at a time. The questions may be answered in the order given or questions may be skipped and revisited later during your exam time. You must earn 70% or greater on the exam to successfully complete this course. If you do not earn a 70% or greater on the final exam in your first attempt, one retest is available online. The retest is randomly selected and will not necessarily duplicate the same questions as the original exam (first attempt). Once the examination has been submitted for grading, you will learn your results immediately. If you do not successfully pass the second attempt, you must re-register for the online course.
