Principles of Mobile Market Research, sponsored by:

- Full Circle Research Co., the first and only fully breakdown-based research company in the world. In the Full Circle research process, we solve critical business problems by identifying and breaking down the clients’ strategic, operational, and tactical challenges using research-driven solutions.

- Research Now, a global research services provider with more than 3,500 market research, consulting, media, healthcare, and corporate clients. Research Now serves companies across industries with insights and solutions they can trust, allowing them to make confident decisions.

- Sawtooth Software, the world leader in choice modeling. Sawtooth Software delivers innovative choice modeling and analytics that enable organizations to make better decisions.

Principles of Pharmaceutical Market Research, sponsored by:

- Adelphi Research, the Adelphi Group, is a full service research consultancy and training company specializing in medicines, healthcare and healthcare-related consumer products. Adelphi offers a range of market research services to support research and information needs.

- Kantar Health, a leading market research and data analytics company, provides insights and analytics for the healthcare industry, helping companies to unlock the potential in digital health.

Principles of Marketing and Its Interface, sponsored by:

- Quirk’s Marketing and its Interface, the only magazine and website designed exclusively for market research professionals. Articles are written by and for market research professionals, providing insights and practical advice through real-world project examples. The companion website includes directories of research companies and facilities, job postings, and much more. Visit us at: quirksmag.com.

- Sawtooth Software, the world leader in choice modeling. Sawtooth Software delivers innovative choice modeling and analytics that enable organizations to make better decisions.

Principles of Market Research, sponsored by:

- FocusVision, the first company to provide integrated, streaming, asynchronous online software and mobile device usability studies as well as a robust survey programming and management platform. FocusVision is the first company to provide interactive, streaming, asynchronous online software and mobile device usability studies as well as a robust survey programming and management platform.

- Critical Mix, a full-service, pharmaceutical and biotechnology focused research company, delivering consulting, research and data analytics services to pharmaceutical and biotechnology clients.

- Full Circle Research Co., the first and only fully breakdown-based research company in the world. In the Full Circle research process, we solve critical business problems by identifying and breaking down the clients’ strategic, operational, and tactical challenges using research-driven solutions.

- Research Now, a global research services provider with more than 3,500 market research, consulting, media, healthcare, and corporate clients. Research Now serves companies across industries with insights and solutions they can trust, allowing them to make confident decisions.

- Sawtooth Software, the world leader in choice modeling. Sawtooth Software delivers innovative choice modeling and analytics that enable organizations to make better decisions.